JACKSON MOORE TO SPEAK AT SMALL BUSINESS CONFERENCE FOR VETERANS

08.02.2010

Raleigh, NC (August 2, 2010) – Jackson Moore, a partner in Smith Anderson’s Government Contracting and Commercial Litigation practice groups, will speak on legal issues relating to federal government contracts. Mr. Moore will speak to United States military veterans who desire to grow their existing businesses through relationships with the federal government.

Mr. Moore will be speaking at the Small Business Conference for Veterans held on Thursday, August 5, 2010, in Jacksonville, North Carolina.

The program is sponsored by the U.S. Small Business Administration, the Small Business and Technology Development Center, the North Carolina Military Business Center, the City of Jacksonville, North Carolina, and Coastal Carolina Community College. The program is part of an ongoing effort to help veterans start and grow viable businesses and learn how to navigate through the government procurement maze.
